Comic & Curious Cats™

Border Fine Arts Studio Character Collection

Linda Jane Smith's humorous cat prints have been delighting fans around the world for eighteen years, and her highly detailed scenes, populated by an array of humorous cartoon cat characters, have become much sought-after international best sellers.

At the age of sixteen, Linda was accepted into Bournville College of Art to study for a Graphic Design course. She later organized exhibitions at local venues and sold work to The Stable Gallery, London, where she had her first major exhibition, before embarking on a publishing programme with Washington Green.

Often dubbed as a 'naïve' painter, Linda believes the word 'illustrative' more accurately defines her personal expression. Painting in a pointillist style, she builds up layers of rich colour and texture in her highly sought after limited edition prints. Being an avid collector herself, her own personal objects frequently appear in her work, creating a strong affinity with her fans.

Painter, interior designer, window dresser and author of four books with cat themes, there's no limit to Linda's talents. Her art is widely reproduced in popular greetings cards and on posters, making it instantly recognisable. Since 2001, Linda's fabulous feline characters have been lovingly portrayed in three-dimensional form for the popular Comic & Curious Cats™ Collection.
