

Border Fine Arts adds Peter Pan to prestigious collection

Produced in a Limited Edition of 250, Eighth in the Series

Every tableaux in Border Fine Arts' prestigious sculptural collection, A Moment in Time, celebrate the heroes and heroines of Disney films. Each enchanting study is modelled, made and painted entirely by hand by the finest artists in Great Britain meaning every piece is individually made and no two will be alike. This latest figurine portrays the 'boy who can fly', Peter Pan.

The popular animated Disney's Peter Pan, was made in 1953 and the dramatic and memorable moment when the eponymous hero engages his nemesis, Captain Hook, in a battle so that he can rescue the drowning Tiger Lily, has inspired this fabulous new limited edition sculpture.

The original model was created by the talented UK sculptor, Peter Mook, who worked alongside the Border Fine Arts design team to ensure every last detail of this action packed scene was captured as well as the mischievous personality of Peter Pan and the villainous nature of Captain Hook.

Peter Pan is created with incomparable artistry to the highest of quality standards.
