 2021

STAYING connected...

2020 has been a year filled with sorrow and fear and a longing to be close to those we love, especially since we needed to stay apart. My family was very far away and it was often difficult to think positively when I had no control over the circumstances around me. I had already started to sculpt the piece that became Our healing touch because I wanted to do another three-sister figure. I used their hair as a way to portray the comforting sensation of touch. This touch became more important, and so missed, when it wasn't available to me in the spring — I couldn't see my mother, my children or my grandchildren. I realized how healing touch can be.

Staying connected to each other... laughter, trust, love, companionship — these are things that we value. During the coronavirus pandemic, our Willow Tree team has been all these things for me. The collaboration, trust and respect that I have with my team members has allowed me to continue to create product that I hope you will find meaningful, sensitive and relevant to our time.

OUR healing touch

The comfort of just being together

new

28041 Our healing touch
The comfort of just being together
Height: 16.5cm

'I'm the fourth generation of three sisters. I remember hearing the stories of how my great-grandmother and her sisters, young Italian immigrants, would dress each other's hair each morning — brushing, braiding, pinning it up — before they started their day working in a factory sewing pockets on men's workpants. As I grew up, I watched my mom and her sisters care for each other in close, affectionate ways. And with my own two sisters... we often find ourselves curled up on a couch, arms, legs overlapping, where just being together is the activity. It's a comfort level achieved by quietly talking, laughing, playing with each other's hair, being close to each other.

'It's the comfort you feel when you're surrounded by those you trust and love — like with your sisters, or a mother and daughters, or very close cousins, or even best friends — the ones you can literally 'let your hair down' with. You don't have to fill the spaces or explain yourself. You can just be together, and that, in and of itself, is healing.

'Our healing touch is all about the hair. Hair is a symbol of our identity — who we are, how we see ourselves. Our hair differentiates us, but also connects us. Isn't the first way we 'date' a photograph by the hairstyle? Hair is tactile, sensuous, and the touching and stroking of it can be comforting and healing. These women are connecting with each other in a quiet moment, attuned to each other, in harmony.'

ADORABLE You

A joyful friendship

new

28039 Adorable You (golden dog)

A joyful friendship

Height: 19.5cm

A puppy brings joy, exuberance and a bit of chaos into the household at first, then mellows over time to become a companion, a playmate, a confidante; always happy to see us, never tiring of our presence.

As a metaphor for friendship, a dog represents the trust and comfort of a good friend, and how this relationship grows in value through the years.

'When carving this figure, I was influenced by the postures of classical sculptures, where the line of the shoulders is in opposition to the hips, or 'contrapposto'. I wanted the gesture to involve her whole body — 360 degrees. So any way that the viewer turns the figure, there is movement and life and expression.

'I look to things that bring joy, especially in difficult times.'

new

28042 My Guy
It's especially nice when you're around
Height: 15.5cm

'We've had many requests for a sculpture of an adult man to add to other figures to create a Family Grouping, or to represent a spouse or older son or brother. I hope this piece can be a reminder of someone important in your life, who makes you feel special.'

Susan

My Guy can stand alone as an iconic figure. He looks great positioned with a best friend too. Displaying products together can facilitate add-on sales of additional pieces such as pets or children figures.

Susan carved My Guy to be of a scale that will work with other family figures, in particular the seated children. His posture and downward gaze creates an engagement with other pieces, so that he becomes an integral part of Family Groupings.

'I hope my granddaughters develop the closeness that I've always enjoyed with my two sisters. There's nothing like the love of a sister. It grows out of a shared history of funny, stormy, trying, joyful experiences... creating the foundation on which every strong relationship is built.'
